

BANGOUR

VILLAGE ESTATE

Inspired by history, designed for the future

Bangour Village Estate, on the site of the former Bangour Hospital in West Lothian, offers a curated collection of 3, 4 and 5 bedroom homes.

Each residence promises adaptability to a wide range of lifestyles, ensuring a high standard of living without compromise. One of the UK's most iconic redevelopment projects, this inspirational location combines timeless elegance and contemporary luxury.

Discerning buyers can expect an unrivalled living experience set within 215 acres of majestic, mature woodland with brand-new amenities such as a state-of-the-art primary school and a vibrant community retail hub, all just outside the thriving town of Livingston and close to Edinburgh.

Founded in the early twentieth century, the Bangour Hospital was a much-loved and respected institution, serving as the Edinburgh War Hospital during WWII and later providing a variety of services to the community, including a maternity ward.

Today, it is poised for a renaissance, transforming its rich heritage into an aspirational new neighbourhood. Bangour's important history will be embodied and restored in the new village settlement, with several Victorian heritage buildings lovingly renovated and reborn as wonderful places to live.

Prime location

Residents will benefit from excellent road transport links due to the estate's strategic location near the M8, with an easy commute to Edinburgh, Stirling, and Glasgow, as well as access to travel further afield via Edinburgh International Airport. The nearby Uphall train station offers frequent trains to Edinburgh in around 20 minutes.

Livingston, just outside Bangour Village Estate, is a major shopping destination with an impressive variety of retail and entertainment options. The Centre is home to well-known brands, and Livingston Designer Outlet, the largest of its kind in Scotland, has more than 70 boutiques, restaurants, and coffee shops.

There are several golf courses in the area, such as Pumpherstoun, Deer Park Golf and Country Club, and Linlithgow, and the nearby PureGym offers a range of exercise classes. Keen cyclists can access Route 754, which follows the Union and Forth & Clyde Canals, three miles from Bangour, offering an entirely traffic-free route to Edinburgh in 90 minutes.

Nature and art lovers can visit the award-winning Jupiter Artland, a vast collection of over thirty unique sculptures set in 100 acres of tranquil meadows and woodlands, just a 15-minute drive away.

Families will find plenty to do, including wildlife encounters at Five Sisters Zoo, trips to Almond Valley Heritage Centre, cinemas, soft play areas, and ten-pin bowling.
